

KTH in Stockholm

KTH was founded in 1827 and has remained the largest of Sweden's universities of technology. Since 1917, activities have been housed in central Stockholm in beautiful buildings which today have historical monument status.

Associated colleges are found at various places in the Stockholm surroundings – Haninge, Södertälje, and Kista.

KTH co-operates with Stockholm University in Kista, the main Swedish resource centre of information technology, and with the new AlbaNova centre, with its departments of physics and biotechnology.
